LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT
of
The College Senior Class

WE, the Senior Class of 1949, do hereby declare this our Last Will and Testament:

I, RHEA RHORER, do bequeath my ability to carry a tune to Betty Lou Matheson.

I, SARAH KATHERINE BULLOCH, will my love for strange animals to anyone having the intelligence to care for them.

I, ELEANOR ROSE, do will and bequeath my ability to perform card tricks to Sheila Gottlieb.

I, DEE COX, do bequeath my Mississippi accent to anyone who may acquire it.

I, BETTY MCCOY, bequeath my Accounting Book and Room 26 to Bailey Winn.

I, JANE ACKERSON, leave my hockey stick to Eleanor Leach.

I, MARILYN BRODY, will my patience to Sookie Fain.

I, MARY SHEFFIELD, do bequeath my Tidewater "outs" and "abouts" to Hyde Jones and Sue Bentley.

I, JEANNINE BIDWELL, leave my English Literature books to Janie Cotten and my ability to rise with the bells to Joney Sarazan.

I, MARION RUSSELL, bequeath my navy paraphernalia to the girl with equal enthusiasm.

I, TRACY FOSS, will my University of Virginia week-ends to Pat Trowbridge.

I, HELEN BATEMAN, will my corner locker to any day student next year who is willing to take the bumps and bruises of the between class rush.

I, MARGARET ROBERTS, do bequeath my job writing jokes for the Hall Chatter to Doris Powers, because she likes to laugh at funny things.

I, MARY HAMMER, do will my ability to speed to those early morning classes and not get caught to Jean Birdsong who will need it next year.

Given under my hand and seal at Waynesboro, Virginia, this 4th day of June, 1949.

College Senior Class Prophecy

The room is in complete darkness. Heavy drapes cover the windows, preventing any light from entering. The only illumination comes from a crystal ball in the center of the room. Suddenly the crystal clouds, and when the cloud fades away I see a narrow, crooked street of Arabia, and as the scene moves closer, there appears the inside of one of the famous night spots—in the spotlight, singing, is Jane Ackerson. I watch her for a while, but my thoughts wander to her former roommate and shortly the face of Betty McCoy replaces the image. As it enlarges I see that Betty is working out new bridge rules for her book which is soon to be published. Her television set dominates the scene for a moment, and as I turn to the source of the program, I see Dee Cox, who is entertaining the listeners with her well-known comedy show.

But wait! The crystal is again clouding, this time to reveal the vision of Mary Hammer, who is Dean of Xafriaf College. Before her is Eleanor Rose collecting information for her feature article which she is writing for her paper. On Mary's desk is a picture of her friend, Margaret Roberts. As attention is focused on the picture, it comes to life and I see Margaret in the very modern kitchen of her new home. On the table is the latest novel written by the well-known author, Helen Bateman. The view in the globe changes to Helen's home where she is entertaining some of her friends. Among them is Jeannine Bidwell who has just given a successful "one-man" exhibit of her latest paintings. The scene moves to the door, and as it opens, Marion Russell, the renowned model, enters. She is gowned in a new creation designed by Tracy Foss. As I think of Tracy, the picture of the crystal becomes that of an ultra-modern office in Connecticut. Tracy is standing by her desk looking at the sketches of her latest creations. Beside her, commenting on them, is Marilyn Brody who has recently returned from Paris where she has been observing the style trends.

The image fades and the crystal becomes clear. I have seen in my crystal ball all but three members of the Senior Class of 1949. As if reading my thoughts the globe reveals a swimming pool. There are two figures near the diving board, and as the vision becomes clear, I see that one of them is Rhea Rhorer who is teaching her daughter, Laura, how to dive. The scene changes to a sumptuous Hollywood set where I see Mary Sheffield arranging the coiffure of a movie star. On another set, in the same studio, they are filming the latest Tarzan epic. The chimpanzee, who is Tarzan's boon companion, is owned and trained by Kitty Bulloch. I see her on the sidelines supervising the animal. After the picture is completed she will return to her social work in Roanoke.

The crystal clears again, but this time, for good. I go over, turn back the curtains, and as the light enters the room, the memories of yesteryear fade away.

Prophecy

As I stepped from the Doser Cab to cover the world premiere of Destination Unknown, by the renowned playwright, Alice Cooling, who needs no introduction to theatre goers, I fully intended to write a dramatic criticism for the review in this morning's paper.

The play was excellent. Nora Jo Peterson was her usual splendid self in the starring role under the direction of Mary Shep Hammons. The superb music was written in collaboration by Pole Corter and Marian Hammond. The scenery was set in ultra-magnificent contrasting colors by Marilyn Lazarus and Pat Johnson, Inc. Betty Patti, now managing director of Fax Mactor, Inc., did her usual beautiful job of make-up.

If the play was good, the audience was better. It turned out to be a delightful reunion of many former classmates of the 1949 exodus from the quaint little school in the Virginia hills. I heard a great noise, and I turned to find ten screaming children being fed lollipops by their doting mother, Sara Nottingham, aided by her ever present comrade, Sallie Eubank. Dorothy Pearson was angrily shushing the children so that she could continue her discourse on the powers of atomic energy in the carrot, with her colleague, Bev Westman.

I happened to turn my head, and sitting behind me was none other than Ellen Sinton, now teacher of roller skating at Fairfax Hall.

Just in from a swim down the Tennessee River, Janet McCleary was seen. I knew from the smile on her face that the swimming race had been a success, as usual. Seated beside her was Anne Sancken, now president of the Safe-T Motor Co., Inc.

I finally opened the telegram that had been in my purse since early evening, and found it was from Martha Rosenfield, who expects to fly up to New York for her trousseau and wants to make a luncheon date.

Speaking of arrivals in New York, I understand that Angie Lee Sanders is due to arrive next week for the showing of her new stallion, Buzzibomb.

In front of me, proofreading the next edition of Time magazine was the censor, Lou Schindel, who, with a smile, removed the distasteful language.

Far down the aisle I glimpsed Julia Rankin, newly elected "Pickle Queen" of the year.

The High School Senior Class

Prophecy

The curtain fell on the first act, and I was pushed with the surging crowd out into the lobby. The first thing that met my eye was Barbara Chase, standing on a soap-box, still campaigning for Dewey for President. By chance I saw a group of leading politicians, and in their midst was none other than Marilyn McCune, now first woman mayor of New York City.

As I went to grab a snack to eat I saw Suzanne Lynch's confections advertised profusely. And sitting behind the travel desk, giving the latest news on Bermuda, its men and morals, was our muchly-traveled informer, Clara Cole.

Patty-Dear Adkins was seen arguing with her husband over the problems of child psychology.

As I went back to see the rest of the drama, Jeanne Marie Jones glided triumphantly past me, just in from her smash hit dancing lead in a new Broadway musical.

Jo Jack Pond, newly elected "Queen of the Kaydet Corps," was seen coming in on the arm of a bellhop whom she'd mistaken for one of her many ardent fans.

As the curtains rose for the third act, Lois Casstevens, now famed debater on the Social Problems of the American Family of the South, flew in, late as usual.

Esther Brown, having successfully taken over her father's store, swirled into the theatre in all her glory.

Seated far over in a corner, taking up two seats instead of one, was Natalie Leach, member of the "Eada-Piece-a-Pi" Sorority.

Coming into the theatre I saw Joan Houck and Linda Lazzell, who have just completed a new book, called Cada, which, I understand, has made a great splash on Broadway.

Well, that's all the news for now, but tomorrow be sure to read my daily column again.

Your faithful reporter,

BOBBYE COVEY.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT
of
The High School Senior Class

WE, the Senior Class of 1949 of Fairfax Hall, Waynesboro, Virginia, in leaving our Alma Mater, wish to publish this, our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

Section I: To Fairfax Hall, we bequeath our everlasting love and hope that the Senior classes of the future years will have as good times as we have had.

Section II: To Miss Eura Strother, our sponsor, we bequeath our love and gratitude for the help she has so willingly given us.

Section III: To Mr. Gates, we bequeath our sincere appreciation for his understanding and guidance, which have helped us so much.

Section IV: To the Senior Class of 1950, we bequeath our all-night parties on the eve of vacation, in hopes that they can stand the strain better than we.

I, PAT ADKINS, do hereby will and bequeath to Marcia Babbidge my love of Delaware men in hopes that we both will be successful.

I, ESTHER BROWN, do hereby will and bequeath my lonely week ends spent at Fairfax without "him" to Rosemarie Esposito.

I, LOIS CASSTEVENS, will to Marilyn Jenkins my ever present love for anything pertaining to North Carolina in hopes that she will always keep up the Carolina tradition.

I, BARBARA CHASE, in my right(?) mind will my deep appreciation for the American Indian, their ability of aviation and love for the state which made it possible for Missouri to enter the Union in 1820, to anyone who will uphold its standards.

I, CLARA COLE, being of sound mind, do bequeath my ability to sleep through the noise on Saturday morning to Jeanne Hughes in hopes that she will lose her ability to rise with the sun.

I, ALICE COOLING, do hereby will and bequeath my flaming red hair to Sue Bentley and Dell Moore in hopes that they will try my brand next time.

I, BOBBYE COVEY, leave my position of chief mail carrier between Fairfax and Fishburne to any girl that will have it.

I, SALLIE EUBANK, leave to Miss Willis my remarkable ability to render a polished translation of Cicero without doing violence to any grammatical constructions; also an hour and ten minutes to do her daily preparation with additional ten minutes to spend if her mind wanders from "dear old Cicero."

I, MARIAN HAMMOND will my neat room to Jean Manley in hopes that she will keep it that way.

I, MARY SHEP HAMMONS, do hereby will and bequeath to Jeanne Hughes my great love for the Fauber brand of coffee, only hoping that she won't become as great a caffeine addict as I am.

I, JOAN LEE HOUCK, will my now unwavering love for W. & L., as a refuge from the vicissitudes and complexities of life, to Lucy Fain, even though she got there before Lee.

I, PAT JOHNSON, leave, hoping that Fannie Delugach will follow within ten years.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT
of
The High School Senior Class

I, JEANNE MARIE JONES, will my undying fight for the Southern Cause to Rosemarie Esposito in hopes that some day she will be able to argue and win as well as I can.

I, LINDA LAZZELL, will and bequeath my ardent dislike for hamburgers to anyone stupid enough to go to Charlottesville with food on the brain.

I, NATALIE LEACH, do will and bequeath my love for the S. M. A. dances to Eleanor Leach, in hopes that she may continue to attend them and have as wonderful a time as I have had.

I, MARILYN LAZARUS, leave my musical ability to Nancy Linehan, and if and when I get above high C, I will send her the rest of the notes.

I, SUE LYNCH, will and bequeath my "talkative" disposition to Helen Baker.

I, JANET McCLEARY, will my ability to room with redheads from Delaware to anyone who has the desire to do so.

I, MARILYN McCUNE, will and bequeath to Beth Midyette the dashing Billy Pember, for she certainly has been more faithful to him than I.

I, SARA NOTTINGHAM, will the editorship of the "Rambler" to Miss Hantske.

I, BETTY PATTI, will my ability to ham up play rehearsals and opening nights to Bonnie McAfee. May she do me proud!

I, DOROTHY PEARSON, will to Mollie Ely and El Leach my ability to resist all Staunton cadets, not to mention my love for all gym activities and my front seat in Mr. Pace's English class.

I, NORA JO PETERSON, will to Frances Tewes the ability to fall in love with a Texan in hopes that she, too, will wear cowboy boots and cowboy shirts.

I, JO JACK POND, will my kilts, my bagpipes, and my collected poems of Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott to Joy Grine with the hopes that we both will meet on the Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond.

I, JULIA RANKIN, will the remains of our room to my beloved roommate, Mary Welch, in hopes that it will last through her remaining years at Fairfax; to the "Swordsmen" I will the rest of my limited supply of cigarettes, and to Betty Lou Ungerleider and Barbara Fox, my success in bumming cigarettes.

I, MARTHA ANN ROSENFELD, leave my good looks to next year's circus queen, Peggy Flipppo.

I, ANNE SANCKEN, will and bequeath to El Leach and Mollie Ely my ability to get around and join in the fun in spite of any handicap.

I, ANGIE LEE SAUNDERS, will and bequeath my riding ability to Betty Fletcher.

I, LOU SCHINDEL, do hereby will and bequeath my faithfulness in writing to the same boy every night to Anne Willis.

I, ELLEN SINTON, will and bequeath "Twelfth Street Rag" to Millie Thomas.

I, BEVERLY WESTMAN, was going to entrust my orderly mind to Mary Alice Smith, but, for the moment, I can't seem to remember where I put it.

Given under my hand and seal this 4th day of June, 1949.

The Laurel Chain Song

*Winding slowly o'er the campus
As we bear our laurel chain,
O'er the dear old Fairfax campus,
As we pledge our love again.*

REFRAIN

*Dear old Fairfax, dear old Fairfax,
How our hearts beat high with pride!
Ever shall we stand together,
Fairfax daughters side by side.*

*'Tis a symbol of our faith,
This laurel chain we bear,
And the trust we have in Fairfax:
Oh, our hearts will e'er be here.*

*As the day draws nigh for parting
And we list to another call,
In our hearts will live the echo,
"Alma Mater, Fairfax Hall."*

Seniors:

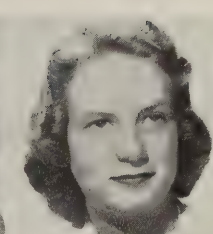

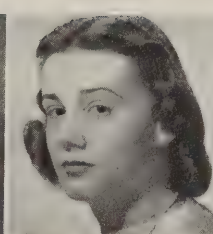

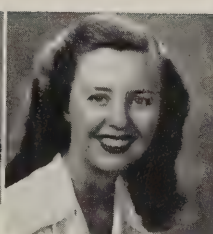

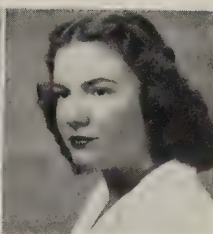

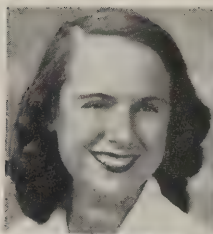

*We, the Senior Class of Fairfax,
Pass to you this chain of green
As a token of our love
And the happy days we've seen.*

Juniors:

*We accept with joyful hearts
The challenge that you give,
And promise we will keep it;
In our hearts 'twill ever live.*

Purpose

THE Young Women's Christian Association of Fairfax Hall spreads a Christian influence throughout our everyday life. This group inspires us with its chapel and vesper services and comforts us with its "Big Sister" program. It educates us with its instructional films and lectures and entertains us with its movies and parties. The "Y" encourages friendliness and adds charm, fun, and inspiration to our school life.

The Art Club

THE art history students have led the gallery discussions during our exhibitions and field trips. Other features of the year have been slides and films on famous works of the old masters. It is the hope of the group and the Art Department to have a permanent exhibition of students' work on an accumulative basis. The following exhibitions have been scheduled this session:

- Paintings and Drawings by Virginia Artists
- Original Prints from the Museum of Fine Arts Collection
- The Medieval Spirit
- The Greek Revival in American Architecture
- Charles Smith's Zoo
- Contemporary American Painting
- Seventeenth Century Dutch Painting
- Water Colors by American Artists

THE Athletic Association is an organization which helps Fairfax girls keep physically fit and maintains good sportsmanship in every way throughout the school life.

In order to become a member of the Athletic Association one must make twenty-five points acquired by participating in sports outside of those required.

The student body is divided into two teams, "Orange," and "Black," which represent the school's colors. The purpose is to promote sports activities among the students and to help girls gain Athletic Association points.

The Association sponsors activities such as: Hockey, Basketball, Baseball, Tennis, Bowling, Riding, and many others. Hockey and Basketball Teams participate in games with many schools and the trips are fun.

Alma Mater

I

*Pledge we now our loyal friendship,
Pledge it, one and all,
To the school we love so dearly;
Hail to Fairfax Hall!*

CHORUS

*Loudly praise our Alma Mater,
Best school in the land.
Through the years we're friends forever,
Loyally we stand.*

II

*Memories shall always linger
'Round our school so dear,
May the friendships formed at Fairfax
Live throughout the years.*

*On whispering wings of memory
you'll return to Fairfax Hall*

Soft echo of a waltz will whisk you back to the first gay dance at Fishburne.

Cheering crowds will call you to exciting hockey games and horse shows.

A solemn march will transport you to the glory of your Commencement Day!
